Armstrong's domination continues

Kiwi driver earns first pole in F3 ahead of Fewtrell and Vips

Marcus Armstrong achieved his first pole position of the season in a frantic FIA Formula 3 Qualifying session at the Red Bull Ring. The PREMA Racing ace was able to hold on to P1 ahead of Max Fewtrell and Jüri Vips, despite a late red flag interrupting his session.

Qualifying started with all 30 cars swarming onto the short Spielberg circuit and it was the continually dominant PREMA's who set the standard, with Jehan Daruvala and Robert Shwartzman enjoying an early tussle out in front.

Armstrong added a third PREMA to the party, but the trio were later broken up as ART Grand Prix displayed their much-improved pace. David Beckmann moved up to third, with teammates Fewtrell and Christian Lundgaard slipping in behind him.

Shwartzman's session was cut short as he suffered a technical hitch and was forced to pull over onto the bank at Turn 4, coming to a swift halt. Following this, Armstrong took the reins and ensured a PREMA remained on top, nabbing P1. Further drama ensued when Logan Sargeant took flight at the final turn and thundered into the barriers, bringing out a red flag. Thankfully, the American walked away from his car unscathed.

Ahead of the red flag, Armstrong had set a purple first sector and lost momentum as he looked to cement P1. Meanwhile, Vips and teammate Leonardo Pulcini managed to complete their laps and hauled themselves up to third and fourth ahead of the brief break in action.

The session resumed with just four minutes left on the clock and Vips wasted no time in getting the running back underway, narrowly missing out on pole by 0.180s, leaving Armstrong clinging onto the position.

Daruvala and Lundgaard were each able to set fast final laps and haul themselves back up the order, but neither times were as impressive as Fewtrell's who claimed P2 at the death, just 0.123s short of Armstrong.

This meant that the Kiwi maintained pole, with the Briton from ART in second and Vips third. Daruvala and Lundgaard completed the top five, ahead of Jake Hughes, Pulcini, Pedro Piquet, Beckmann and Sebastian Fernandez. However, the Spaniard will drop three places due to a penalty earned in Free Practice. Fewtrell and Vips will both look to contend with the power of Armstrong's PREMA in Race 1 tomorrow morning at 10.25am.

ROUND 3 POST-FREE PRACTICE PENALTIES

28 JUN 2019

FERNANDEZ AND VERSCHOOR PENALISED

---

Campos Racing's Sebastián Fernández has been handed a three-place grid penalty for tomorrow's Race 1 at the Red Bull Ring.

The Spanish driver was found to have passed through the pit exit after the red light was displayed at the end of this morning's Free Practice session.

Moreover, Richard Verschoor of MP Motorsport has also been penalised by the Stewards for a separate incident in which he failed to stop at the weighbridge during the session.

As a result, all lap times set by the Dutchman prior to the infringement have been cancelled.

POST QUALIFYING PENALTIES

28 JUN 2019

FOUR DRIVERS PENALISED AHEAD OF RACE 1 IN AUSTRIA

David Beckmann, Christian Lundgaard, Keyvan Andres and Alessio Deledda have all received penalties following today's FIA Formula 3 Qualifying session.

Firstly, ART Grand Prix duo Lundgaard and Beckmann have both been disqualified from today's F3 qualifying result, with their lap times from the session cancelled. It was found that two team members who are not on the operational staff list were involved in actions impacting the mechanical and engineering operation of the cars. These two team members - who were identified as the drivers' physios - were seen holding a blower which was directing air into the engine intake above the drivers' head, therefore cooling the engine. ART Grand Prix's Team Manager indicated that the drivers' physios were not acting on behalf of the team.

Having considered the matter extensively, the Stewards determined that the actions of the drivers' physios were a serious breach of the Operational Staff regulations which are designed to be a key cost limiting component for the Championship.

Both Lundgaard and Beckmann - who had qualified P5 and P9 respectively - have been given permission to start Race 1 from the back of the grid.

Moreover, it was found that Andres and Deledda failed to slow sufficiently under double waved yellow flags in sectors 5 and 6, during an incident at Turn 4, when marshals were recovering Robert Shwartzman's beached PREMA Racing car.

As such, they received a drop of five grid places for Race 1 tomorrow, ahead of Lundgaard and Beckmann.
