THE STORY SO FAR

It was two second-year drivers, Victor Martins and Arthur Leclerc, who took charge in the opening round of the FIA Formula 3 Championship last month in Sakhir, Bahrain. The Frenchman and Monegasque finished the first round atop the Drivers' Championship, with 25 and 24 points respectively. Meanwhile, Hitech Grand Prix rookie Isack Hadjar impressed on debut with a maiden win in the Sprint Race.

The grid picked back up where they left off, after two days of in-season testing in Jerez de la Frontera, Spain two weeks ago, venturing north to the Circuit de Barcelona-Catalunya last week for another 12 hours of track time.

ART Grand Prix rookie Grégoire Saucy topped a sunny first morning of testing in Barcelona, to go quickest overall on day one. The Swiss driver saw off Van Amersfoort Racing's Franco Colapinto and his ART teammate Victor Martins by 0.155s and 0.244s respectively.

In the afternoon it was MP Motorsport's Alexander Smolyar who went quickest in a long-run and data gathering focused session, clocking in a 1:33.342 to finish the session ahead of his teammate Caio Collet and Trident's Roman Stanek.

Second-year Alpine Academy member Collet showed his experience in a Qualifying session on the morning of day two, to set the quickest time of the test overall with a 1:31.507. The Brazilian racer finished ahead of teammate Smolyar, and Colapinto.

The final session of the test saw Jenzer Motorsport's William Alatalo top an afternoon stint once again concentrated on race runs. The Finnish driver finished ahead of Campos Racing rookie Josep Maria Martí and PREMA Racing's Leclerc.

THE CHALLENGERS

ART Grand Prix's Victor Martins sits at the top of the Drivers' Championship with 25 points. PREMA Racing's Arthur Leclerc is one point back in second and leads teammate Oliver Bearman, who sits in third with 17 points. Grégoire Saucy is fourth with 15 points. Juan Manuel Correa rounds out the top five with 14 points.

In the Teams' Championship, ART Grand Prix head up the Standings, with 54 points. PREMA Racing sit in second with 47 points ahead of Hitech Grand Prix in third with 14 points. MP Motorsport and Van Amersfoort Racing are fourth and fifth respectively, with 12 points apiece.

Oliver Rasmussen will contest his first 2022 round of Formula 3 with Trident this weekend, having tested with the Italian outfit in both Jerez and Barcelona. The Danish driver made his debut with the team after Jonny Edgar was unable to continue with his season for health reasons.

Meanwhile, Italian racer Federico Malvestiti joins Ido Cohen and William Alatalo at Jenzer Motorsport for the remainder of the season.

ART Grand Prix's Juan Manuel Correa will miss Round 2 due to an injury to his left foot. As a result Victor Martins and Grégoire Saucy will be the only two ART drivers racing this weekend.

David Schumacher replaces Ayrton Simmons at Charouz Racing System in Imola, stepping into car #14 alongside László Tóth and Francesco Pizzi.

COMPOUND ALLOCATION

FROM THE GRID

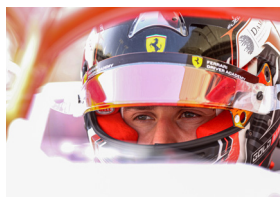

Arthur LECLERC PREMA Racing

"I am really looking forward to racing at Imola this year, it's a great track. I really love the layout, it's quite narrow. I would say it's quite tricky in Qualifying, and it will also be tricky in races to overtake. It's also not far from Ferrari, and I spend most of my time with them in the Ferrari Driver Academy so I think it will feel like home.

"It's a high-speed track and quite tight so I think it will be really interesting in Qualifying because to put a lap together will not be easy. In terms of overtaking, like I said it's really narrow so it will be hard to follow and there's not much possibility in the line you take. If you are behind, you cannot really explore outside or inside lines so I think the main straight will be the main place to overtake.

"I think the right tyres will suffer quite a lot at Imola, but let's see. I did a Formula Regional race there and the degradation with the front tyres was quite big so we will have to see how the Formula 3 car reacts. I'm open to every challenge we might get!"

TYRE TALK

Mario ISOLA

Pirelli Motorsport Director

"We are pleased to welcome the FIA Formula 3 Championship to Imola for the first time. Many of the drivers will have raced there in lower categories and we are sure they will enjoy the varied demands offered up by this old-school Italian circuit. We have selected the P Zero Yellow medium compound – the middle tyre in the Formula 3 range – and this will be the first chance the teams have had to run it this year, providing another additional factor to the weekend. The 2022 rear tyres have been designed to degrade faster, which should shift the balance towards oversteer and make the car more challenging to drive, so managing the rubber effectively could be key".

STAT PACK

Three rookie drivers, Isack Hadjar, Grégoire Saucy and Oliver Bearman, stood on the podium in the opening round of the 2022 campaign. Hadjar also collected his maiden win in the Sprint Race.

8

Eight rookies collected points in Sakhir, with PREMA Racing's Bearman the highest placed first-year driver after two races with a total of 17 points.

7

After his win in the opening round, Victor Martins now has a total of seven F3 podiums, just three shy of the existing record shared by Robert Schwartzman, Dennis Hauger and Logan Sargeant who all collected 10 career podiums.

5

Five drivers finished in the points in both races at Sakhir, including three returning drivers and two rookies.

9

Nine teams scored points in the first round at Bahrain International Circuit, including Van Amersfoort Racing, who collected 12 points at their debut weekend in the third tier.

The 4.909 km long Autodromo Enzo e Dino Ferrari is the second of two new tracks on this year's Formula 3 calendar.

Imola is the third Italian track to feature on a modern Formula 3 calendar, after Autodromo Nazionale Monza and Mugello Circuit.
